As the name implies green technology is the one that has a "green" purpose. Green inventions are environmentally friendly inventions that often involve: energy efficiency, recycling, safety and health concerns, renewable resources, and more.

One of the best known examples of green technology would be the solar cell. A solar cell directly converts the energy in light into electrical energy. Generating electricity from solar energy means less consumption of fossil fuels, reducing pollution and greenhouse gas emissions. Another simple invention that can be considered green is the reusable water bottle. Drinking lots of water is healthy. Reducing plastic waste is great for the environment. Hence, trendy reusable water bottles that you can refill yourself are health-promoting, eco-friendly, and green.

Inventors should know that green inventions and clean technologies are good business. These are fast growing markets with growing profits. Consumers should know that buying green inventions can reduce your energy bill and that green inventions are often safer and healthier products.

Question 1:

A: What time is the next shuttle flight to Boston?

B: It leaves in 30 minutes.

A: Is it too late to get a ticket?

B: No, you still have plenty of time to make it.

A: Great. And how long is the flight?

B: It's about 45 minutes.

Question 2:

A: Hey, are you up for catching a movie tonight?

B: I'm not sure I'm up for that tonight. I'm pretty beat.

A: Oh, why are you so tired?

B: Well, I had three classes today, and I had to work for four hours afterward.

A: Wow, yeah, you must be exhausted. Well, how about tomorrow night?

B: Yeah, tomorrow night sounds good. I have the whole day off tomorrow.

A: Great. Let's meet at the theater at 7.00.

B: Sounds good. See you then.

Question 3:

A: What would you like to order?

B: I'd like the steak, please.

A: Would you like a baked potato or fries with that?

B: Really? I used to have that problem.

A: Oh yeah? Do you think I should see a doctor?

B: It may not be anything serious. Have you tried taking vitamins?

A: No, I haven't.

B: Taking vitamins always helps me when I'm tired.

Part 2:

Woman: Westwood English School.

Man: Hello. I want to ask about evening classes, please.

Woman: Yes, they're on Thursdays. But this term will finish at the end of August. We'll start again on the twenty-second of September, but you can book your place now.

Man: It's for a Chinese friend. He wants an easy class.

Woman: Well, there's a two-hour class for beginners.

Man: Mmm. My friend would like something shorter.

Woman: Well, we have a fifty-minute speaking class. That would be good for him. The teacher is Miss Jarvis. That's J A R V I S. The students all like her.

Man: How much does that class cost?

Woman: It's seven pounds fifty per class or if you pay for all twelve classes now, it's only seventy-eight pounds. It's cheaper that way.

Man: Right.

Woman: Can your friend come to the school soon and book his place? The address is two hundred and twenty-three, Fitzroy Square.

Man: Is that in the center of town?

Woman: Well, it's about twenty minutes walk from the station. We're just by the bookshop.

Man: Right. Thank you.

Woman: Goodbye.
