B. Read the passage and circle the letter A, B, C or D to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions.

Apart from regular exercise, the food we put in our bodies can have both instant and life-long effects on our health, and too much of everything is also bad. Leftover food may create stress because it can hurt our stomach badly. Too much salt, sugar, fat and pepper also makes us less calm. Overconsumption of some kinds of foods, such as onion, garlic, tea, coffee, tobacco, soda, alcohol, chocolate, sour apples, pickles and refined sugars encourages aggression, and consumers tend to have more worries than happiness. More importantly, the relationship between food and stress is about what or how much we eat and how the food is eaten. For example, stress is probably created when we eat food in a great hurry or when we are angry. The way the food is served is also a matter of importance. Not only does the presentation of the dish play a role but the love and affection with which the food is provided are also essential. It is considered a bad habit to give too many negative comments on the food that we are eating. It is better not to eat the dish we do not like than look for something wrong in it.

Bear in mind that we should maintain regular eating habits. Workaholics who do not arrange a time to eat food at proper meal time may suffer from serious stomachache. One must try to enjoy their food, so frequently eating business lunches or dinners is not a really good idea. Every bite of food should be enjoyed with relaxation. Food and discussions should not be mixed. There are accepted ways to charge our daily food. Prayer could be the best method for energizing the food, and it usually has a useful effect.

51. Which is the best title for the passage?

- A. Healthy diets B. Food and stress
- C. Eating habits D. The positive effects of food

52. Which of the following is the word "charge" in paragraph 2 CLOSEST in meaning to?

- A. pay money for the food B. limit the food
- C. serve the food D. give energy to the food

53. Which of the following does the word "it" in paragraph 2 refer to?

A. prayer

B. food

C. method

D. cost

54. Which of the following statements is TRUE according to the passage?

A. Eating too much of any kinds of food is acceptable.

B. Raja sic foods help to relieve stress.

C. Lunch or dinner meetings are highly recommended.

D. Irregular meal time may cause problems for one's stomach.

55. Which of the following CAN'T cause stress when eating?

A. The way we eat

B. The type of food

C. The passion for food

D. The amount of food

C. Fill in each blank with ONE suitable word.

Do you (56) _____ good? Are you fit and healthy? Maybe you think you are too fat and need to lose weight or maybe you are too thin and need to (57) _____ on weight. Here is some advice for you. First of all, it is important not to do things that do harm (58) _____ your health, such as smoking, drinking too much alcohol or going to bed too late. Secondly, if you have an unhealthy lifestyle, try to change some of your daily activities. Make sure you eat a(n) (59) _____ diet, including plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables and do not skip meals. You should also get enough sleep and use less social media. Do exercise to keep fit, such as jogging or joining the gym. Lastly, you should always stay motivated. An important key to being in (60) _____ is to set goals and keep a positive mindset. If you stay positive, you will be able to push yourself to get that fit body you've always wanted.

THE GENERATION GAP IN MY FAMILY

The members of my family have a wide range of opinions. My father and my brother Jack are two members of my family who are totally different.

My brother is artistic and creative while my father focuses on facts and technical details. One of the more humorous differences between them is their taste in music. My father loves listening to classical music, but my brother prefers EDM. Also, my brother bought many CDs to support his favorite band, and this made my father disappointed. My father told my mother that Jack shouldn't have spent a lot of money on those useless things.

Another difference is that my brother is studying Visual Arts at university, but my dad was really angry when he found out about that. He said Jack should have studied business or marketing. My father said that learning arts couldn't help my brother to earn money. They didn't talk to each other for two years after my brother started his university studies. However, we are a loving family now. My father has become more understanding, and he regretted not being a good father. He said that he should have listened and encouraged Jack to do what he liked. My brother also said sorry. He said that he should have respected our father's opinions. It is amazing because my father and my brother are best friends now.

Next week, we are going to Hawaii for our summer vacation, and I am really excited. We planned to take the trip in 2019, but it was canceled because my father and Jack did not talk to each other. However, everything is alright now, and I hope when something wrong happens in the future, our family can respect and listen to each other to find good solutions.

A Safer Future with RENEWABLE ENERGY

Renewable energy sources like biomass, wind, solar and hydroelectric energy can meet the world's energy demand as they provide energy services based on locally available resources. In other words, renewable energy sources are (46) _____ and all around us. Sunlight and wind, for example, are such sources that are constantly being replenished. According to research by the United Nations, these green energy sources currently supply (47) _____ 15 to 20% of the world's total energy demand. This supply is dominated by biomass (mostly wood used for cooking and heating—especially in developing countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America) as well as large hydropower stations providing nearly 20% of the global electricity supply (48) _____ by renewable sources. Renewables are now not only available in most countries but also cheaper than fossil fuels. A transition to (49) _____ energy systems is looking increasingly likely as their costs have dropped while the prices of fossil fuels like oil and gas continue to fluctuate. For example, the cost of electricity from solar power fell (50) _____ 85% between 2010 and 2020 while the costs of onshore and offshore wind energy fell by 56% and 48%, respectively. It is estimated that cheap electricity from renewable sources could provide 65% of the world's total electricity supply by 2030.

46. A beautiful B. plentiful C. wonderful D. useful
47. A. among B. from C. between D. at
48. A provided B. provide C. providing D. to provide
49. A renew B. non-renewable C. renewed D. renewable
50. A by B. down C. up D. from

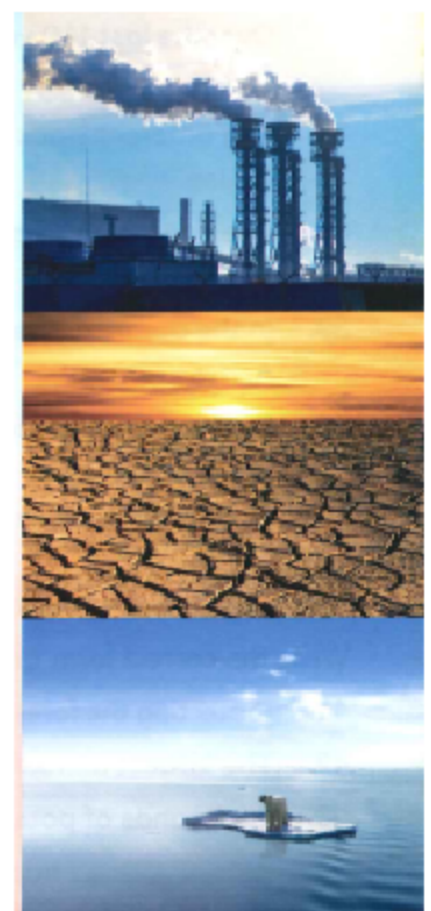

B. Read the passage and circle the letter A, B, C or D to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions.

GLOBAL WARMING

Global warming is the phenomenon of a gradual increase of the Earth's average temperature due to the rise of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. These gases like carbon dioxide and methane escape into the air and act like a warm blanket over the Earth to prevent some of the heat from escaping into space, which keeps our planet warm enough for plants, animals and humans to live in. This is known as the greenhouse effect. However, there's a problem when people all over the world are adding extra carbon dioxide to the atmosphere by burning fossil fuels like oil and coal for our everyday and industrial activities.

Global warming leads to some serious changes on Earth. For example, the sea levels are rising. Every year, the sea rises another 13 inches (3.2 mm.). This is mostly due to a combination of melted water from glaciers and ice sheets and thermal expansion of seawater as it warms. The rising sea levels have a profound impact on our oceans and marine life. They are changing the distribution of fish stocks and their food. The rising sea levels can also have devastating effects on coastal habitats farther inland with destructive erosion, wetland flooding, soil contamination with salt and habitat loss for fish, birds and plants.

Using less fossil fuel to limit the amount of carbon released to the air is considered as the best way to slow down global warming. However, it is hard to do as our modern life mainly relies on non-renewable energy. Therefore, by driving less, turning down the heat and air conditioning, and using more solar, wind and hydroelectric power, we can all reduce greenhouse gases and help fight global warming.

51. Which of the following statements is NOT TRUE according to the passage?

- A. The increase of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere makes the Earth warmer.
- B. Carbon dioxide helps to release the Earth's heat.
- C. The burning of oil and coal releases carbon dioxide to the atmosphere.
- D. Global warming is the warming of the Earth's temperature.

52. What does the word "devastating" in paragraph 2 refer to?

- A. harmful
- B. careful
- C. wonderful
- D. plentiful

53. What does global warming cause?

- A. a reduction of sea level
- B. a stability of sea level
- C. a leap of sea level
- D. a decrease in ocean temperatures

54. What do the rising sea levels affect?

- A sea life
- B. carbon dioxide
- C industrial activities
- D. fossil fuel

55. Which of the following statements is NOT MENTIONED in the passage?

- A. Greenhouse gases prevent the heat from escaping into space.
- B. Too much carbon dioxide to the atmosphere becomes a matter to the Earth's atmosphere.
- C. Soil contamination is a result of global warming.
- D. Renewable energy is cheaper than fossil fuels.

THE AMAZON DEFORESTATION

The Amazon Rainforest, which is known (56) _____ the world's richest biological reservoir, is home to million species of insects, plants, birds and other forms of life. However, there is a fact that the Amazon rainforest has gradually disappeared (57) _____ the beginning of the 20th century because settlers have cleared the rainforest for the need of wood and farmlands when Brazilian population has been growing rapidly. As a result, the size of the Amazon rainforest has decreased (58) _____ 20% for the past 50 years, and the rainforest natural resources and ecosystem services have been seriously affected. For example, the local species were seriously damaged when their homes, habitat and food sources were being destroyed by (59) _____ down the trees. Besides, the deforestation in the rainforest has (60) _____ the levels of polluted rivers and contaminated soil to rise whereas the quality of life and the overall manufacturing productivity of the people living nearby have gradually declined.

SON ĐÒNG CAVE

Sơn Đoòng Cave is located in the limestone mountains of the UNESCO-listed Phong Nha-Kẻ Bàng National Park. It was first discovered in 1991 by a local man and became internationally famous in 2009 when a group of scientists from British Cave Research Association explored it.

Sơn Đoòng Cave was created from 2 to 5 million years ago while a river flowed through the limestone mountain area. The water eroded the limestone and created long underground tunnels. The cave is over 200 m high, 200 m wide and at least 9 km long.

Sơn Đoòng Cave consists of two entrances, which is unique among other explored caves in Phong Nha - Kẻ Bàng National Park. Having explored the cave, the scientists were surprised at the spectacular scenery of numerous columns of more than 70 meters high. Sơn Đoòng Cave is the largest cave passage in the world. International explorers were amazed to see that this fascinating cave system has its very own rainforests. Deep inside the cave exists a tropical Jungle named "Garden of Eden" by the explorers. This is where unique species of plants and trees can be found. Also, the cave has a 2.5-kilometer underground river. Not far from the "Garden of Eden" lies an enormous "pearl collection" consisting of thousands of small rare limestone cave pearls in dried ponds, making it an incredible feature of the cave.

SON ĐOÒNG CAVE

Sơn Đoòng Cave is located in the limestone mountains of the UNESCO-listed Phong Nha-Kẻ Bàng National Park. It was first discovered in 1991 by a local man and became internationally famous in 2009 when a group of scientists from British Cave Research Association explored it.

Sơn Đoòng Cave was created from 2 to 5 million years ago while a river flowed through the limestone mountain area. The water eroded the limestone and created long underground tunnels. The cave is over 200 m high, 200 m wide and at least 9 km long.

Sơn Đoòng Cave consists of two entrances, which is unique among other explored caves in Phong Nha - Kẻ Bàng National Park. Having explored the cave, the scientists were surprised at the spectacular scenery of numerous columns of more than 70 meters high. Sơn Đoòng Cave is the largest cave passage in the world. International explorers were amazed to see that this fascinating cave system has its very own rainforests. Deep inside the cave exists a tropical Jungle named "Garden of Eden" by the explorers. This is where unique species of plants and trees can be found. Also, the cave has a 2.5-kilometer underground river. Not far from the "Garden of Eden" lies an enormous "pearl collection" consisting of thousands of small rare limestone cave pearls in dried ponds, making it an incredible feature of the cave.

Sơn Đoòng Cave was opened to the public in 2013. A local adventure tour company Oxalis has been taking a limited number of tourists per year on four-day expeditions into Sơn Đoòng Cave since then

A. Choose the options that best complete the passage.

Some Buddhists have a long-standing tradition of freeing animals from captivity. It is regarded by these people as a kind action which could influence what will happen to them in their future lives. However, according to some (46) _____, this practice also poses harms to local wildlife, and the government should be urged to ban it.

The improper release of animals can have negative impacts on the living environment in local areas. It can help quickly spread foreign species into the native environment. Many people have (47) _____ poisonous snakes and red-eared turtles, which can reproduce quickly, eat other species or even destroy the local ecosystems.

(48) _____, some species may die after being released. Wild birds, for example, fall into a cycle of being caught and released, and then being caught again, causing the birds to die slowly. Many species of turtles like mountain turtles are often released into pagoda ponds, but they cannot survive a week in the new environment, and some (49) _____ die within three days.

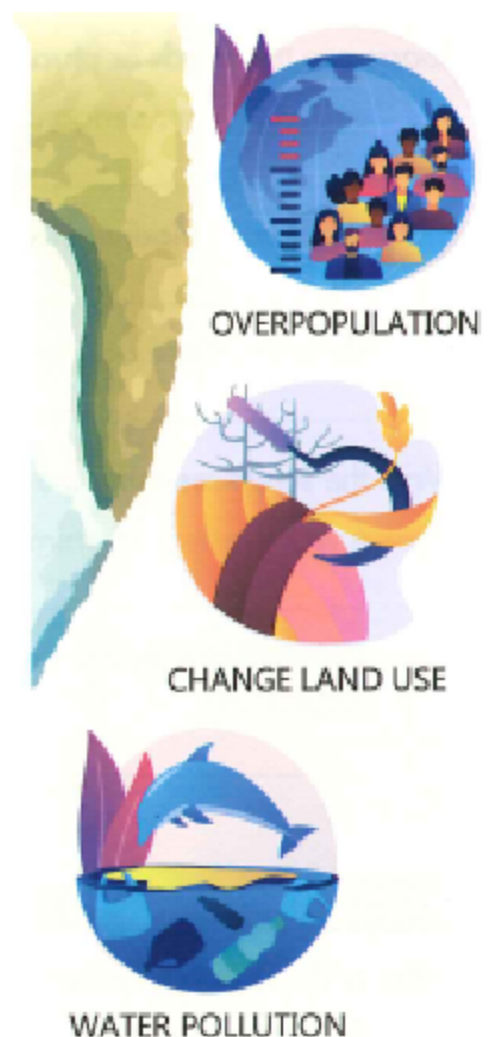

Experts suggest that the tradition of freeing animals should be ended because apart from destroying native species (50) _____, this release does not have much meaning in bringing life to the liberated species. There should be instructions on what animals can be released and how to release animals into the environment to make sure they can continue living.

46. A. environment B. environmental C. environmentally D. environmentalists
47. A. release B. releasing C. released D. to release
48. A. In addition B. Therefore C. Nevertheless D. As a result

50. A. hunting B. populations C. invasion D. trade

B. Read the passage and decide whether the statements are TRUE (T), FALSE (F) or DOESN'T SAY (DS).

Ecological balance is the stability of each species' population within an environment. However, this state can be upset by the introduction of new species, the sudden extinction of animals, natural disasters or man-made problems. Throughout history, there has been a variety of environmental issues. Some of the most serious problems are the activities of preparing and fighting wars, which can cause serious environmental damage. During the Vietnam War, for instance, dense forests covering large green areas were carpet bombed, resulting in the habitat of numerous species being destroyed.

The ecological balance has been seriously affected by how the world's population has increased from the industrial age. We have been clearing plants and trees, changing the way to use the land and expanding paved areas for our development. These activities have an impact on both the water and soil quality and ecology. Due to the increasing water demand of different industries, water has been extracted from deeper wells in further areas. In addition, increased paving would not only reduce the amount of water vapor but also contribute to groundwater pollution. Those issues have gotten worse in recent years and caused many consequences.

Scientists have been carrying out the solutions to ecological imbalance for the past two decades. Hopefully, we can deal with the negative effects of industrial development, and more endangered species will be saved in the next 50 years.

- 51. The ecological imbalance can be caused if one species disappears unexpectedly. _____
- 52. The habitat destruction in Vietnam War was caused by bombing. _____
- 53. The need for water has been decreasing since the industrialization. _____
- 54. Human activities have prevented all species populations from increasing. _____
- 55. There haven't been any solutions to ecological issues. _____

C. Fill in each blank with ONE suitable word.

Mimosa pigra is native to tropical America and was first recorded in Vietnam in the 20th century; it has now appeared all over the country. Mimosa pigra prefers a wet-dry tropical (56) _____ with high annual rainfall and temperatures. It will probably not be a major problem in regions if the rainfall is lower than 750 mm or higher than 2250 mm.

This species is dangerous as its seeds (57) _____ very fast. Water, animals and people can carry the seeds which are in hairy portions of pods everywhere. For example, animals' fur picks up the seeds by accident, and some animals take the seeds with them wherever they go. The seeds can also stick (58) _____ people's clothing, shoes and hair. Also, seeds are transported by vehicles, boats and equipment. The hairy coverings make the pods float well on water, (59) _____ they can be easily transferred downstream and onto floodplains to rivers. Once seeds have taken root, they grow quickly. Plants that are 2.5 cm in diameter in the first week often grow to 7 cm in diameter by the second week. In some experiments, after (60) _____ cut at ground level, young plants could regrow to a height of 2.5 m and covered an area of 6.3 m² in less than 12 weeks. The appearance and rapid growth of Mimosa pigra could harm native plants and damage any local biodiversity.

PART 3 \ READING COMPREHENSION (30 POINTS)

A. Choose the options that best complete the passage.

Some Buddhists have a long-standing tradition of freeing animals from captivity. It is regarded by these people as a kind action which could influence what will happen to them in their future lives. However, according to some (46) _____, this practice also poses harms to local wildlife, and the government should be urged to ban it.

The improper release of animals can have negative impacts on the living environment in local areas.

It can help quickly spread foreign species into the native environment. Many people have (47) _____ poisonous snakes and red-eared turtles, which can reproduce quickly, eat other species or even destroy the local ecosystems.

(48) _____, some species may die after being released. Wild birds, for example, fall into a cycle of being caught and released, and then being caught again, causing the birds to die slowly. Many species of turtles like mountain turtles are often released into pagoda ponds, but they cannot survive a week in the new environment, and some (49) _____ die within three days.

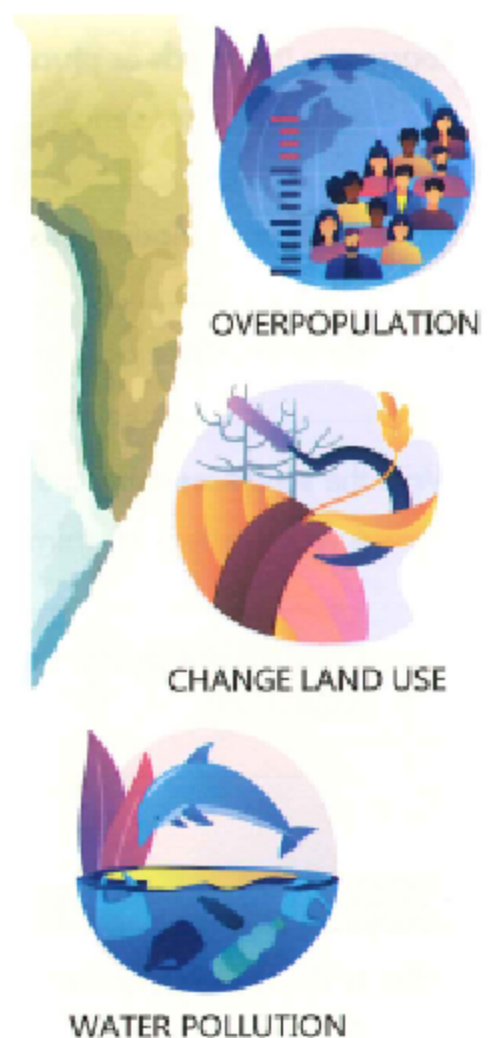

Experts suggest that the tradition of freeing animals should be ended because apart from destroying native species (50) _____, this release does not have much meaning in bringing life to the liberated species. There should be instructions on what animals can be released and how to release animals into the environment to make sure they can continue living.

46. A. environment B. environmental C. environmentally D. environmentalists
47. A. release B. releasing C. released D. to release

50. A. hunting B. populations C. invasion D. trade

B. Read the passage and decide whether the statements are TRUE (T), FALSE (F) or DOESN'T SAY (DS).

Ecological balance is the stability of each species' population within an environment. However, this state can be upset by the introduction of new species, the sudden extinction of animals, natural disasters or man-made problems. Throughout history, there has been a variety of environmental issues. Some of the most serious problems are the activities of preparing and fighting wars, which can cause serious environmental damage. During the Vietnam War, for instance, dense forests covering large green areas were carpet bombed, resulting in the habitat of numerous species being destroyed.

The ecological balance has been seriously affected by how the world's population has increased from the industrial age. We have been clearing plants and trees, changing the way to use the land and expanding paved areas for our development. These activities have an impact on both the water and soil quality and ecology. Due to the increasing water demand of different industries, water has been extracted from deeper wells in further areas. In addition, increased paving would not only reduce the amount of water vapor but also contribute to groundwater pollution. Those issues have gotten worse in recent years and caused many consequences.

Scientists have been carrying out the solutions to ecological imbalance for the past two decades. Hopefully, we can deal with the negative effects of industrial development, and more endangered species will be saved in the next 50 years.

51. The ecological imbalance can be caused if one species disappears unexpectedly. T
52. The habitat destruction in Vietnam War was caused by bombing. T
53. The need for water has been decreasing since the industrialization. F
54. Human activities have prevented all species populations from increasing. DS
55. There haven't been any solutions to ecological issues. F

It will probably not be a major problem in regions if the rainfall is lower than 750 mm or higher than 2250 mm.

This species is dangerous as its seeds (57) _____ very fast. Water, animals and people can carry the seeds which are in hairy portions of pods everywhere. For example, animals' fur picks up the seeds by accident, and some animals take the seeds with them wherever they go. The seeds can also stick (58) _____ people's clothing, shoes and hair. Also, seeds are transported by vehicles, boats and equipment. The hairy coverings make the pods float well on water, (59) _____ they can be easily transferred downstream and onto floodplains to rivers. Once seeds have taken root, they grow quickly. Plants that are 2.5 cm in diameter in the first week often grow to 7 cm in diameter by the second week. In some experiments, after (60) _____ cut at ground level, young plants could regrow to a height of 2.5 m and covered an area of 6.3 m² in less than 12 weeks. The appearance and rapid growth of Mimosa pigra could harm native plants and damage any local biodiversity.

PART 3 \ READING COMPREHENSION (30 POINTS)

A. Choose the options that best complete the passage.

It is not surprising that almost all first-year students have a lot of problems when they must live (46) _____ at university.

At the first stage, due to not having a suitable schedule, they keep failing to (47) _____ deadlines. Unlike high school where the homework is quite simple and just about what is taught in class, the college or university (48) _____ require the students to do more research for its requirements and to complete within a given time.

Another issue which often makes students (49) _____ is that they don't have enough money to pay for things. One reason for that problem is that some students don't receive enough financial support from their parents to pay for both tuition fee and living costs. Another reason is that some students don't spend emoney in the right way.

It's possible for college or university students to thoroughly solve the problems above. For example, they can plan (50) _____ for their assignments or essays, make use of modern technologies to study faster. Besides, they can work part-time to support themselves financially.

50. A. careless B. carelessly C. careful D. carefully

B. Read the passage and decide whether the statements are TRUE (T), FALSE (F) or DOESN'T SAY (DS).

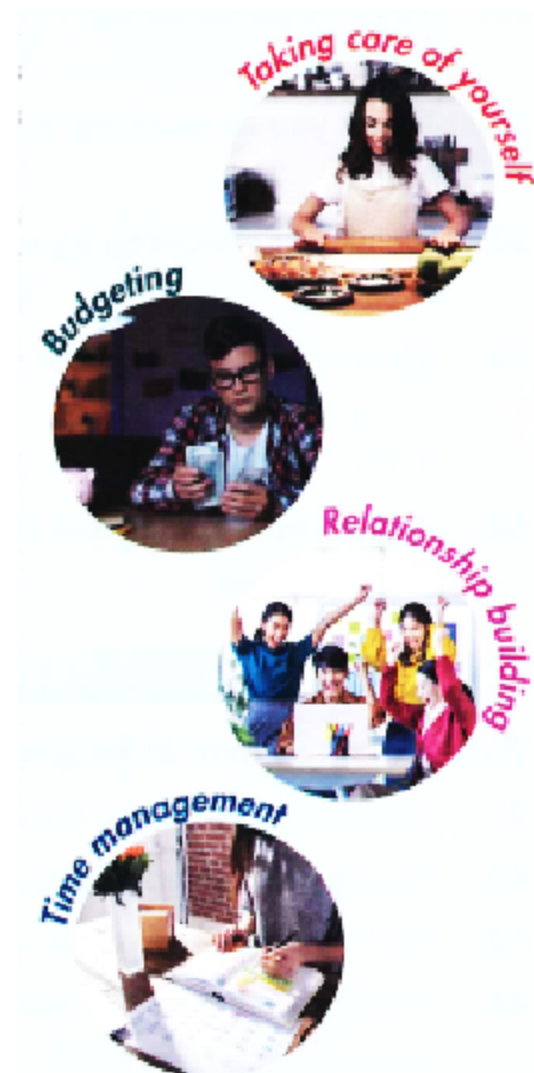

It's a fact that higher education provides students with academic knowledge. However, before starting at a university or college, it's essential that students must be well-prepared with some basic skills to look after themselves. Hence, it's necessary for students to learn many different skills for their new life.

The top of skill list is to learn how to take care of themselves by doing basic chores like cooking, washing clothes or repairing some furniture. Unlike the time they still live with their parents that they can rely on for the chores, they must handle everything by themselves. Once, students can handle their chores, they can focus on their study.

Plus, living in a society requires students to be good at building relationships. They can make friends with people who share the same hobbies or emotions to entertain themselves and learn a lot from others. As a result, having a good mood and building effective teamwork skills can help improve students' learning.

Moreover, budgeting skills are rather stressful to master. Most high school students spend the money given by their parents on leisure activities, such as joining a party, junk food or games instead of necessary things because the parents already pay for all the living costs like food, electricity, water or clothes. However, college or university students must know how to manage the yearly or monthly financial support and spend it effectively so that they don't feel stressed when paying for all bills.

Lastly, time management is also the vital skills that enable students to cope with essays and assignments. Therefore, students need to have the right schedule for their studies and personal life. Overall, college or university environment plays a vital role in giving students a chance to live independently.

51. It's important for college or university students to learn some basic skills. _____

52. College or university students don't have to do the chores by themselves. _____

53. When college or university students feel good and work well with each other, their study could be better. _____

54. Most high school students are required to pay for food, electricity or water bills. _____

55. Good budgeting skills help students deal with their studies. _____

C. Fill in each blank with ONE suitable word.

When I first came to Ho Chi Minh City to start my university study, I felt so (56) _____ about living a new life but a bit worried because I have to do everything on my own.

Actually, I was quite stressed when having to (57) _____ lots of assignments. In high school, I just needed to understand the lessons in class to do my homework. However, as a university student. I needed to do more research in order to do my assignments properly and submit them by the (58) _____.

Besides, another problem of mine was (59) _____. Honestly, I had some difficulties brainstorming for the main ideas to write effectively which were the most important key of this kind of exercise. Luckily, I was really good at building relationships, so I made many good friends, and we used to work in group frequently to share, discuss and come up with the necessary outline and supporting ideas.

Furthermore, they also shared time management skills with me, which helped me deal with deadlines more (60) _____. Thanks to my helpful friends, I could survive through all my time at university, I guess.
